SUPPORTING YOUR STUDENTS

Library Instructional Services

library.campbell.edu/information-fluency

Librarians can provide customized face-to-face or virtual library instruction for courses, create online research guides, produce online tutorials, or collaborate with you to design research assignments.

Research Assistance

library.campbell.edu/ask

Students may drop by the Research Assistance desk to ask a librarian questions; or, they can reach us via chat, phone, email, Skype, or text message. For longer research inquiries, they can schedule a personalized Research Consultation.

SUPPORTING YOUR RESEARCH

Faculty Support Coordinator

library.campbell.edu/faculty-support

The library offers personalized research assistance for faculty projects, including executing searches, creating research strategies, and locating hard-to-find sources.

Faculty Study

library.campbell.edu/faculty/faculty-study-request

Research carrels are available in the library's Faculty Study. Assignment is on a first come, first served basis, with duration based on faculty need and demand.

CU FIND

cufind.campbell.edu

CU FIND is a faculty profile system that highlights the Campbell University community's achievements in research, teaching, and professional service. To participate, send a current CV to Holley Long (long@campbell.edu).

Faculty Lightning Talks

library.campbell.edu/lightning-talks

An opportunity to share your research with the Campbell community, Faculty Lightning Talks are informal, fast-paced presentations held once a semester in the library's Periodical Reading Room.

The Framework for Information Literacy in Higher Education

Our instruction is guided by six frames of understanding, which teach students to find, interpret, and produce information that is valued in academia:

Scholarship as Conversation

Information Creation as a Process

Information Has Value

Research as Inquiry

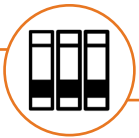

Authority is Constructed and Contextual

Searching as Strategic Exploration

Interlibrary loan and document delivery services are available to you free of charge.

Course Reserves

[library.campbell.edu/services/
reserves](http://library.campbell.edu/services/reserves)

You may place course materials on reserve in print or electronic format. To do so, send an email to reserve@campbell.edu, submit a Reserves Request form online, or call (910) 893-1309.

Collection Development

library.campbell.edu/order

You are encouraged to place requests to order materials for the library collection. A librarian liaison is assigned to each department to facilitate departmental activities related to acquisition and collection development.

MEET YOUR LIBRARY LIAISON

A librarian liaison is assigned to each department to support your library-related needs. Your librarian liaison can serve as your initial point of contact and assist you with matters such as providing orientation sessions for new faculty members, scheduling a library instruction session, attending faculty meetings and giving presentations upon request, and facilitating collection development activities.

To find out more about this program and who your librarian liaison is, visit library.campbell.edu/library-liaisons.
